When Germany Is Ready
Public Business
Aiming at the U. S. A.
Back to Capitalism

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

GEN. KURT VON SCHLEICHER, spokesman for the German war ministry, says, "Under the agreement at Geneva, Germany has a right to restore her fighting power and will do it unless other nations disarm.

Other nations will not disarm, therefore Germany undoubtedly will enter the list of fighting nations. You can imagine how friends of the allies would feel if they suddenly find Germany and Italy united under energetic dictators.

What would this country answer if European countries thus mentioned should come to us again saying: Kindly oblige with ten billion more dollars and three million more men!

HERE IS MORE NEWS to make our "best minds" ponder, worry and fret. Ponca City, Okla., according to the Associated Press, pays no taxes from its citizens, because it makes enough from publicly owned water and light plants to pay all city expenses, and this in spite of the fact that rates charged for water and light have been reduced twice in the last two years.

Stillwater, another Oklahoma town, is tax free, thanks to public ownership. In the state of Kansas Minneapolis, Colby, Augusta and Beloit are, as you have been told, four taxless cities.

THE BRITISH EMPIRE, with representatives of all its sections at Ottawa, appears bent on "doing something for silver." It will be interesting to know what the something is.

Also, something will be done about "going after" great manufacturing concerns in which American citizens have invested five hundred million dollars, in various parts of Canada.

Millions feel that Americans should not manufacture inside the tariff walls, and draw out profits, into American pockets. That may be sound reasoning. Time will tell. British shipping, using American docks and carrying American mail, makes a fair profit in good times. Something must be done in that direction to remind our good friends that few things in this world are entirely one sided.

WHILE SOME western countries lose faith in "capitalism," farmers in Canada demanding an end of it, our queer, always interesting friends in Russia are turning back toward the fleshpots of capitalism. Soviet artificers were permitted to trade as they chose articles made by them. Now farmers around Moscow are allowed to sell products without restriction, except as regards grain.

Profit is the steel mainspring that makes the watch go. The spring without selfishness makes human beings go. You will have to get rid of that spring before you can get rid of private profit, capitalism, and other things based on selfishness.

Kenton Man Asks Appointment of Another Judge.

HEARING ON TODAY

Trial on Election Material Charge Scheduled for Monday in Bucyrus.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, O., July 28—A motion challenging the right of Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl to preside at the trial of William W. Durbin of Kenton, charged with circulating unsigned election literature, scheduled for Monday, was to be heard by Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall of the state supreme court in Columbus this afternoon.

The motion was filed in common pleas court here this morning by Durbin, who also filed an affidavit of prejudice charging that political interests of Judge Ahl and Charles F. Schaber, who brought the charge against Durbin, might prejudice Judge Ahl in favor of the state and against Durbin.

Was Member of Committee

Durbin, in the affidavit, states that Judge Ahl was a member of the Charles F. Schaber committee and took an active interest in promoting the candidacy of Schaber for congress in the May primary in which Schaber was opposed by Brooks Fletcher and John A. Key, both of Marion, and Justin McElroy of Ada.

Durbin also states that the indictment on which he will be tried Monday charges him with publishing a written statement derogatory to, and in opposition to the candidacy of Schaber.

It is stated in the affidavit that Schaber was the directing head of a campaign of Judge Ahl for the judgeship of the Third district court of appeals when a vacancy occurred following the death of Charles Justice of Marion, and that for several years Schaber and Judge Ahl "have undertaken to be the directing force to advance the political fortunes of each other, and such undertakings on behalf of each other have extended to the place where their political fortunes intertwined."

Both, Durbin asserts, are members of the controlling committee of their party (Democratic) in Crawford county.

Has Picture on Desk

There exists between the parties a community interest to such extent that Judge Ahl keeps upon his desk in the judge's office a framed picture of Schaber "to the exclusion of all other members of the Crawford county bar," Durbin asserts.

Durbin concludes his affidavit with a statement that the charge is purely political in nature and that Judge Ahl would be interested in the trial because of his activities for and interest in the political advancement of Schaber.

The affidavit and motion have no bearing on the indictment which charges Durbin and Carl Mulcahy with attempted blackmail and attempted bribery. Durbin and Mulcahy are scheduled to be tried on these charges a week from Monday.

The law firm of Carhart, Warner & Carhart and W. P. Moloney of Marion represent Durbin. J. D. Sears of Bucyrus, prosecuting attorney of Crawford county, will prosecute the case against Durbin.

Fiancee Says California Killer Sought Her Protection After Crime.

ARRESTED AS WITNESS

Says Slayer Begged Her To Shield Him from Consequences.

By The Associated Press

SAN JOSE, Calif., July 28—An attractive young woman today charged that George Douglas Templeton Jr., 20, self-described "model boy," begged her to shield him from the consequences of a knife assault which sent his aunt to her grave and his uncle to a hospital wounded seriously.

The woman, who said her name was Claire Burnette, although she was booked by police as Claire Chapman, 28, declared Templeton sought her aid as an alibi witness after he stabbed his aunt, Mrs. Lillian Babcock, Manila society matron, and wounded his uncle, William Rider Babcock, wealthy Philippine exporter. Mrs. Babcock was formerly a resident of Fostoria and attended Ohio Wesleyan university.

The girl declared she was secretly engaged to the youth, a former University of California student. He had sought to have her accompany him to Los Altos where the assault took place early Tuesday, Miss Burnette further asserted.

She was arrested in Oakland, Calif., as a material witness and brought here last night. The prisoner said she is a Vassar college graduate of three years ago and her father, whose name she refused to give, is a New York banker.

The parents of the youth, Major George Douglas Templeton, retired army officer of Berkeley, and his wife, insisted their son had always been a "good boy."

In a purported confession, the youth declared:

"My father had been cheated of a considerable sum of money by Mr. Babcock and I thought that with my killing him and his wife, insurance and property would go to my father."

The youth's father and Babcock were previously associated in the importing business in Manila. Babcock and his wife came to the United States to attend the Olympic games.

SLIGHT DROP FOUND IN SCHOOL CENSUS

10,402 Children in County Between 5 and 17 Inclusive; 100 Less Than Last Year.

The annual Marion county school enumeration, just completed, shows that there are 10,402 children in this county between the ages of 5 and 17, inclusive, a decrease of 100 from 1931.

Of the total, 7,072 live in the city, where a shrinkage of 49 from last year was reported.

Boys are in a slight majority, both in the county and city figures. There are 5,292 boys, 5,110 girls in the county; 3,590 boys and 3,482 girls in the city, the enumeration shows.

A total of 9,544 of the 10,402 in the county are entered in school, and 6,428 of the 7,072 in the city are enrolled. A majority of those not enrolled are included in the five-year-old group, which numbers 765 in the county.

Seven village school districts reported an enumeration totalling 1,830, a decrease of 24 from last year. The villages, the enrollment in each, and the loss or gain from last year follow: LaRue, 413, a gain of six; Prospect, 405, a loss of 10; Green Camp, 234, a loss of four; Waldo, 230, a loss of three; Caledonia, 199, a loss of three; Morral, 184, a loss of eight; Agosta, 174, a loss of two.

Township rural school districts reported an aggregate enumeration of 1,491, a loss of 27. Districts, the numeration in each, and the loss or gain from last year are: Pleasant township, 395, a gain of 23; Marion township, 262, a loss of 14; Montgomery township, 223, a gain of two; Tully township, 173, a gain of nine; Claridon township, 136, a loss of one; Grand Prairie township, 115, a gain of two; Scott township, 106, a gain of five; Richland township, 81, a loss of 53.

The enumeration in the city this year was made by teachers and principals with the cooperation of students, who were asked to report all children in their neighborhoods between the ages covered by the report. This plan, Supt. George A. Bowman said, saved approximately $300.

The enumeration in the county was made by a person appointed in each school district, and cost approximately $150, C. B. Rayburn, superintendent of county schools, said. The enumeration is required by law.

OHIO COUNTIES GET FINANCE CORP. LOANS

Arrangements Virtually Completed for Borrowing of $850,000.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 28—Major E. O. Braught, executive secretary of the Ohio unemployment relief committee, said today that arrangements have been virtually completed for the loan of $850,000 by the federal Reconstruction Finance corporation to four Ohio counties, Stark, Summit, Mahoning and Lorain. The money probably will be available early next week.

Major Braught returned today from Washington where he worked out the technical details for the loan. Under the Ohio law the counties are forbidden to borrow directly from the corporation so Braught arranged for them to issue notes running for one year and renewable at the end of that time and to be accompanied by the unemployment relief bonds as security.

The entire loan depends upon the approval of Squires, Sanders & Dempsey, Cleveland law firm, and Ohio counsel for the federal corporation.

Before the money is loaned by the Reconstruction corporation the counties must sign the notes, which will be presented them within the next few days.

Gotham Mayor Sends Answer to Removal Demands to Gov. Roosevelt.

CONTENTS NOT REVEALED

However, 58-Page Message Believed To Cover Each Individual Charge.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 28—Mayor James J. Walker's answer to charges of Samuel Seabury and others growing out of the Hofstadter legislative committee investigation of the city administration, was taken from city hall shortly after noon today by two special messengers for transmission to Governor Roosevelt at Albany.

On June 9, Seabury, chief counsel of the Hofstadter committee, sent an analysis of testimony concerning the mayor to the governor and attached a letter in which he asserted the mayor was unfit to continue in office.

On the same day formal charges with an accompanying demand for removal of Walker were sent to the governor by the New York committee of one thousand, a civic organization.

On June 13 the No Deal party, a group of Democratic business and professional men, also asked the removal of Walker "for misconduct and malfeasance."

The reply sent to Albany today is understood to take up each point in each of these three communications.

Governor Roosevelt asked Mayor Walker on June 22 to make a formal reply to his critics. The mayor postponed his reply until after the Democratic national convention, which he attended as a delegate, and there was further delay because Walker said he forgot about one set of charges against him and had to revise his answer to include that.

It was announced at city hall that the Walker reply would not be made public until Governor Roosevelt gave the word.

Charles F. Kerrigan, assistant to the mayor, said the answer consisted of about 58 pages, and with exhibits and other parts of the communication there were about 27,000 words in the reply.

Robber Pair Picked Up by Victims for Lift to Marion.

A gun-toting woman hitch-hiker and her male companion robbed a West Liberty man and his wife of their money and automobile late yesterday afternoon on the Prospect road seven miles south of Marion Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Arbogast of West Liberty were held up by the pair after they had given them a lift toward Marion. Mr. and Mrs. Arbogast related the experience to police after another motorist brought them to Marion.

Shortly after the Arbogasts had taken the pair into their automobile while driving toward Marion, the woman drew a revolver and ordered Arbogast to stop the car, police said. They took the pocketbooks of Mr. and Mrs. Arbogast and ordered them to get out of the car, Arbogast told police.

Police began a search for the pair when Mr. and Mrs. Arbogast arrived at police station. A short time later the stolen automobile was found parked in the rear of the St. Mary Catholic church on North Main street but no trace of the woman and her companion was found.

The man was described as being 24 years of age, red haired and weighing about 175 pounds. He had a small mustache and wore a dark suit. The woman was attractive, slender, and appeared to be several years younger than the man. She had dark, bobbed hair and wore a blue dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Arbogast left the city when their automobile had been returned to them.

ROOSEVELT COMING TO OHIO CONVENTION

Accepts Invitation To Give Address at Party Meet Aug. 20.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 28—Successful in their efforts to have Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York open his presidential campaign in this state, Ohio Democrats will hold their platform convention here Aug. 20.

The date was fixed last night after the governor accepted an invitation to address the convention, which will be held in the Coliseum at the state fairgrounds or some other building large enough to accommodate the expected crowd.

Governor Roosevelt's acceptance was announced following a telephone conversation between Henry G. Brunner, chairman of the state executive committee, and James Farley, head of the party's national committee.

Plans for the convention, held in abeyance while the presidential nominee considered the invitation, will proceed immediately, Brunner said. Besides drawing up a platform, the delegates will select a slate of presidential electors, and some party chieftains favor opening the session Aug. 19 in order to finish most of the business by the time the governor speaks the following day, probably at 4 p. m.

SOMERSET, Ky., July 28—Two men were shot fatally when a revival meeting at the Carter Grove Baptist church at Quinton was disrupted by a gun battle last night. Three others were wounded.

A party of officers went to the mountain church to arrest Dick East, who allegedly was creating a disturbance at the meeting, on a charge of breach of peace.

Murphy Johnson, deputized to assist in making the arrest, was instantly killed in the gun battle that followed. Dick East's brother, Tom East, was mortally wounded, dying a few hours later.

Deputy Sheriff Kenneth M. Brown was so gravely wounded he was not expected to recover. Shot three times, he was brought to a Somerset hospital for an emergency operation.

Deputy Bunk Hardwick was seriously wounded and Dick East was shot in the arm.

BRICK BARROGE DRAWS FIRE IN EVICTION MOVE

Police Reserves from Every Point in Washington Are Rushed to Scene.

VETS STILL MENACING

Trouble Breaks Out After Evacuation of Federal Buildings Is Ordered.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 28—Shooting broke out today between police and veterans encamped on Pennsylvania avenue two blocks from the capitol.

Veterans surged about a large and partially dismantled brick structure which they were occupying when suddenly a fight broke out with an officer attempting to disperse them.

A half dozen shots were fired and one veteran was seized and carried to a patrol wagon.

Two veterans were shot, one in the neck and one in the side.

This clash, accompanied by brick and bottle throwing, was quieted by large numbers of police who rushed to the scene followed an earlier one in which a brick barrage had injured four police and as many veterans. One police private was reported in a dangerous condition at Emergency hospital.

It was evident that the bonus army was in an ugly mood.

The clashes were caused by orders for the police to evict the veterans from the lots near the capitol where the public building program has been held up by the bonus seekers.

Opens Fire

The firing was started by a policeman standing at the top of a flight of stairs. At a conference earlier between Pelham D. Glassford, police commissioner, and Walter W. Waters, commander of the bonus army, the police chief had said that he feared an outbreak of shooting unless the veterans would comply with the orders. He said he had seen some pistols waved, but did not state whether these were by police or the bonus army adherents.

When the firing took place, the crowd at the bottom of the stairs had begun to rush upward. A fight started at the top. The private policeman drew his revolver, held up his hand for them to stop, but they did not and he opened fire, shooting twice.

The moment the first shot was fired the crowd on the steps fell backward and those in the street scattered rapidly.

Glassford was on the first floor of the building looking over the situation.

Some one in the crowd of several hundred below yelled "Get them out."

A while before the grim Glassford, who had the eviction order called off for a while, had told a gathering of the veterans "I suppose you know one policeman is dying."

This apparently had little effect on his bedraggled band of listeners, as they stood behind police lines, some scowling, some laughing. As word of the seriously injured policeman's condition spread among his comrades, it was clearly evident that it put them in a fighting mood.

Troops Held Ready

Glassford had been moving on the principle of keeping the ground gained today, in which a number of veterans had been forced from one building and a line strung up for a cleared area to some extent around. He said he knew of no plans to call troops, but he understood that troops were ready in the vicinity to head toward the scene if need be.

A crowd of veterans soon afterwards formed on the sidewalk in front of the building. In a threatening mood these sought to rush the police lines drawn up in front of them. The police, much outnumbered, closed in to hold them back.

Just as the veterans with upstretched hands moved to rush forward, Glassford addressed his men from the second floor of the building, ordering them to fall back.

The police did. Shouts and jeers rose up from the throats of the veterans.

Several of the bonus seekers were grabbed by police and hurried away in patrol wagons.

Glassford himself came down from the second floor soon afterwards, chasing two or three veterans before him. He then went to the rear of the building where more trouble seemed imminent.

Evacuation Ordered

Earlier, the government in a statement through Attorney General Mitchell had ordered the evacuation of all veterans from federal property.

ILLINOIS GETS RELIEF LOAN

Three Million Dollar Federal Credit Granted To Help Needy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 28—Exactly a week after the new federal relief bill became law, Illinois today has a $3,000,000 addition to her bank account with which to feed and care for the needy.

A federal loan of that amount—at 3 per cent interest—was announced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday and made available immediately because it "appears that relief funds will be exhausted in certain localities" of that state by Monday.

Finding quick advancement of the money necessary, the corporation chose not to wait until its directorate was completed. Atlee Pomerene, most recently selected director, had not reached the capital. One more member of the board must yet be named by President Hoover.

The federal agency, agreeing to lend the money out of the $300,000,000 fund in the new $2,122,000,000 relief act, said it would expect all states to meet their own needs as far as possible "and call upon the corporation only as a last resort." Otherwise, it added, the $300,000,000 would not be enough.

Other applications for state loans are pending, but it was believed the corporation would withhold action on most of them until the new directors take office.

Residents of South End To Hold Social at Park

Those who attend the ice cream social to be given by residents of the South End of the city at McKinley park Friday night, will be treated to a feature not common to such events when the pumper at the central fire station which has recently been equipped with a new engine, will be given the official test at the McKinley park lake.

The test will be attended by Mayor W. C. Phillians, Safety Director Emery M. Murphy and members of city council. The test was originally planned for tonight but the date was changed to Friday night at the request of sponsors of the ice cream social to add an additional feature to the program.

The social is being given by the South End residents with the aid of the park board for the purpose of raising money with which to purchase playground equipment for the park and to install a wading pool.

In addition to the demonstration by the pumper the program will include athletic events by members of the Y. M. C. A. circus which has been arranged by J. L. Meredith, former physical director at the Y. The acts will include hand balancing by Richard Gilmore and Robert Tuttle, tumbling by Alva Redman, Richard Gilmore, Robert Tuttle, Richard Tuttle, Carl Cudd, William Schott and work on parallel bars by Carl Cudd, Richard Tuttle, Alva Redman and Vaughn Fox.

A program of songs and dances by pupils of Miss Mildred Duffy, will also be a feature of the social. Those to be in the program are Patricia Fulk, Elberta Titus, Billy Lucas and Virgil Geer. There will also be games and contests for the children it was announced by Dr. F. C. Mann, president of the park board.

GETS DATA ON FIVE-DAY WEEK

Hoover Seeks Facts for Use in Employment Conference Monday.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 28—Two federal departments today sought for the President information as to how fast the five-day week is spreading and how it can be used even more.

They were obtaining facts Mr. Hoover intends to have ready next Monday when he meets representatives of a recent New England conference on reemployment. At the coming meeting, the White House said, the talk will be of "what further coordinated steps can be taken" to shorten working hours and spread employment.

Governor Winant of New Hampshire has asked that President Hoover receive the delegates. The request was granted and the conference scheduled for today but postponed for the convenience of the visitors.

After announcing he would talk with the New Englanders, the President instructed the commerce and labor departments to obtain information for him on the five-day week.

WATSON REVIEWS DEBT CANCEALLTION

Indiana Senator Hints Plan May Work If Europe Reduces Arms.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 28—An indication from an administration Republican that he might be willing to talk about debt revision if Europe will reduce arms brought on more talk in the capital today over what actually is going to happen.

The latest pronouncement was from Watson of Indiana, senate Republican leader whose views have no inconsiderable influence at the White House. He found it "unthinkable" that the United States should let Europe keep the money it owes to build more war strength.

But he did not find it "unthinkable" that the United States might be willing to trade debt reduction or cancellation for disarmament. He said:

"It is not up to us . . . to call a conference for the purpose of cancelling the debts the other nations owe us. . . . It is their first move on the checkerboard, and that move should be one of actual disarmament."

Watson's pronouncement was issued a while after Ambassador Mellon talked with President Hoover and Senator Borah, who suggested that a trade of debt cancellation for disarmament be considered at a world conference.

BOOK DISPLAY ADDED TO MARION LIBRARY

City Institution Gets Material Dealing with International Relations.

A display of books dealing with the different aspects of international relations has been placed in the city library by Charles A. Engvall of Migneapolis, Minn., and Coburn T. Wheeler of Petersboro, N. H., members of one of four peace caravans touring the state under sponsorship of the Quakers and the Young People's Religious Union of the Unitarian church.

A number of articles and news bulletins also have been added to the display by the team. The display will likely remain at the library for an extended period and the books will be replaced with others from time to time.

Last night Mr. Wheeler addressed a meeting at the Presbyterian church at Mt. Gilead and today was the noon-day speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club at that place.

Mr. Engvall spoke at the mid-week prayer service last night at the Nazarene church and yesterday afternoon spoke to a group at the Huber baseball field where he also umpired a baseball game. He was the speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon today and this afternoon was a guest speaker at Camp Uhler at Hepburn where a number of young women are enjoying a 10-day camp period under the supervision of Miss Rhea King.

INTENSE HUNT ON FOR "REDS"

Authors of Whispering Campaign Against Banks Sought Throughout U. S.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 28—Authors of Communistic propaganda found in a Pontiac, Mich., hotel were sought today by the secret service and detectives everywhere as the directors of a nationwide campaign against the confidence of bank depositors.

Chicago bankers, government officials and Michigan police unhesitatingly blamed the Communist party for a systematized attack on the integrity of financial institutions in many large cities, particularly the runs which threatened every bank in Chicago last month. It was said by C. L. Smith, prosecuting attorney at Pontiac, to have been backed by Soviet Russia.

Denied by Foster

William Z. Foster, Communist candidate for president, denied his organization had sponsored a whispering campaign against the First National bank of Pontiac, or that a man known as George Rowland, in whose room seditious letters were found was a member of the party.

Illinois' drastic sedition law, providing 20 years imprisonment was eyed as the handiest weapon should any radicals be caught and connected with the Pontiac literature.

Sought Revolution

The letters were signed "yours for the revolution," and some discussed "bringing about the unrest which will lead to the revolution."

Chicago's June bank runs closed more than 40 institutions, including two in the loop, and caused the city's soundest financial citadels to store upwards of $100,000,000 in cash on hand in order to meet demands of depositors.

The situation here, no longer acute, appeared definitely linked with references in the Pontiac letters sent from Chicago, advising "Rowland" that there was "much progress here" and "considerable runs on jugs in loop."

Plane Fails So Woman Flier Takes Auto to Destination.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 28—Amelia Earhart Putnam, thanks to an automobile, is in Los Angeles to receive the distinguished flying cross and citation from Vice President Charles Curtis.

The aviatrix who flew solo across the Atlantic ocean, was forced down yesterday at Taft, Calif., while winging her way from New York to receive the congressional honor tomorrow afternoon.

Explaining faulty gasoline pressure had terminated her air journey, Mrs. Putnam abandoned her plane and took an automobile for Los Angeles.

The award of the citation will be made preliminary to the dedication of a new state building here. Vice President Curtis will be in Los Angeles to open the Olympic games Sunday.

LABOR HITS CITY PAY CUT

Central Union Opposes Salary Reductions Proposed for Municipal Employes.

Declaring that any reduction in the wages of city employes at this time would be a step backward in the business recovery of the city, members of the Marion Central Labor union at a meeting last night, went on record as opposing the reduction of the salaries of all appointive employes as proposed at a meeting of city council Monday night. The proposed cut is to come up for consideration at a meeting of department heads to be called by Mayor W. C. Phillians.

A committee composed of Carrol Davidson representing the musicians' union and J. A. Warrick, representing the carpenters' union, was appointed to present the objection of the body to council. Members of the organization said the wages now being paid city employes were none too high and in some cases could not be regarded as a living wage.

The body also went on record as opposing the reduction in salaries of state employes now being considered. A protest to be filed with Governor George White will oppose any reduction of salaries under $2,000 a year.

Fred T. Eaton, president of the organization, was appointed as a delegate to attend the joint conference of the Ohio State Federation of Labor and representatives of the Fraternal Order of Eagles to be held in Columbus Sunday, when the proposed old age pension bill will be discussed.

Plans for the Labor day celebration were discussed last night, George S. Eyre was appointed chairman of the program committee. A basket picnic, ball games and other games and contests will feature the celebration, which will be held at Lincoln park.

JURY AWARDS $5,000 IN DAMAGE ACTION

Stephen J. Hart, Administrator of Alexander Estate, Wins Court Verdict.

Stephen J. Hart of Marion, as administrator of the estate of George W. Alexander, who was killed in an automobile accident last October, was given a verdict of $5,000 by a jury in common pleas court at Marysville yesterday in a $25,000 damage action brought by Hart against Mrs. Ada Phillips of Franklin near Cincinnati, owner of the truck which struck the machine driven by Alexander.

Alexander, who lived at 212 Patton street, at the time of the accident was driving a bread route for David Gorlick of this city and was approaching Pharisburg on the Marysville road when a truck being driven by Harkes Gabbard, an employe of Mrs. Phillips, coming from the opposite direction, crashed into the Alexander car.

Witnesses at the trial yesterday said the wheels on the left side of the truck driven by Gabbard were nine inches over the white line in the center of the road when the accident occurred. The trial lasted two days. A motion for a new trial will probably be filed today.

EVICTED WAR VETS CLASH WITH POLICE

Trouble Breaks Out After Evacuation of Federal Buildings Is Ordered.

booing and shouting "Let's run them out."

Veterans were moving on the Pennsylvania avenue area from all directions and gathering bricks and stones enroute.

The lot on which the veterans have been living was covered with bricks and debris from buildings which have been demolished.

Policemen sought quick refuge from the brick barrage when it started and a few officers drew their pistols.

None fired however. Glassford was less than a half block away when the trouble began and promptly went to the scene. He moved among the veterans urging them to desist from violence and pay attention to their leaders.

Officials of the treasury present said the entire area probably would be evacuated at once regardless of the consequences.

Rush Stopped

Plunging into the fight, Glassford succeeded in stopping the rush at police ropes. Several police and a number of veterans were injured and Glassford had his badge torn off.

He stopped the men and asked to confer with company leaders. One small veteran, apparently the leader of the attack, attempted to urge the men on again. He had been struck with a brick and the right side of his face was covered with blood. Police seized him and put him in a patrol wagon.

Walter W. Waters, commander of the bonus expeditionary force, was present but at first refused to take any part in the discussion. Later he talked with Glassford.

Police reenforcements poured in constantly, motor sirens screaming and officers were ready for action with their clubs. No tear gas bombs were used in the first clash, officers fighting the veterans off with their sticks.

Eviction Ordered

Immediate eviction of all members of the bonus expeditionary forces from federal property was ordered today by the government shortly after a group of veterans had been removed from the building on lower Pennsylvania avenue near the capitol.

The sweeping evacuation order was made public by Attorney General Mitchell, who said nearby jails were available to care for all the veterans who proved rebellious.

A large group were removed, some forcibly, from their temporary home near the capitol. At least two arrests were made of veterans who refused to leave voluntarily and were hustled out by police.

Within less than an hour after the first man had been led out, every veteran in the brick structure had been removed. The last to go was a man on the roof who had been waving an American flag.

Mitchell declared "there is no longer any excuse or justification for the assemblage in Washington of these men."

"They are trespassers on government property, much of which is immediately needed for erection of public improvements," he added. He also charged they were violating laws of the district.

"It is high time this conduct should end. There is no reason why these men should not obey the laws of the district just as every resident of the district is expected to do.

"In addition to the steps looking toward their eviction because of their trespassing on government property, steps are being taken to coordinate the work of arrest and prosecution for any and all violations of the law.

"Arrest will be made for all violations, and arrangements have been made for cooperation between the district attorney's office and prosecuting attorneys in the office of the corporation counsel to expedite these cases.

"No one has any disposition to be unduly harsh in these matters, but it is hoped that these men and their leaders will realize that the illegal possession of government property and other unlawful conduct cannot be longer tolerated and that they will yield to the inevitable and obey the law."

Today's action by the treasury was the culmination of days of bickering and buck-passing among the various federal and police agencies of the government and the District of Columbia.

Fifty uniformed policemen marching in formation lined up before the brick walls designated by the treasury for destruction. They were under the command of Inspector Edwards.

Balked for a time in beginning destruction of the building by refusal of the veterans to leave, treasury employes finally began operations on the ground floor of the three-story scrutture.

They walked up to a group of veterans standing in the doorway, took one by the arm and marched him off the property. The man put up no resistance and smiled at his escort.

Pelham D. Glassford, police chief, was in charge of the officers.

"Arrest any man that resists," he ordered his men.

The building is located a block from the capitol grounds. After it is torn down a number of others will be demolished to make way for a government building program. The veterans have been living in them temporarily.

While the first men were being led off, others on the upper floors without difficulty amidst considerable razzing from veterans on the upper floors and on the roof.

The only way to get to the second floor was up a ladderlike stairway. When the treasury agents arrived on that floor they met their first resistance.

A large Negro declared that he was unable to walk down the stairway "because the height makes me dizzy."

After his refusal the treasury agents started to pick him up bodily. When he resisted he was arrested.

TWO PROBES OF OHIO PLANE CRASH LIKELY

Circleville Accident Costs Lives of Two Reserve Army Officers.

By The Associated Press

CIRCLEVILLE, O., July 28 — A double investigation probably will be made of the airplane crash here yesterday, in which two army air corps reserve officers plunged to death before hundreds of horrified spectators.

The victims, Lieut. Albert E. Harter and Sergt. Cuba Burns, both of Columbus, had been participating in the third annual observance of Circleville's "air day." They had just started for home and were at a height of about 400 feet when the plane faltered and fell, approximately 1,000 feet from the Circleville airport.

The plane burst into flames when it hit the ground, and badly burned the bodies of both men, while the spectators who rushed to the scene stood by unable to help.

Captain Fred Smith, state director of aeronautics, said last night both the state and the army probably will investigate in an attempt to learn the cause of the accident.

Lieut. Harter, a former captain in the British royal flying corps, and Sergt. Burns, assistant traffic manager at Port Columbus, were members of the 308th observation squadron. Both of the men left widows, and Harter is survived also by two children.

Twin sons preceded him in death.

He was born Oct. 10, 1885, at Hyattsville, O., to James and Lydia Lowry Thomas. His father is dead. His marriage took place Oct. 23, 1910 at Lewis Center.

IDENTIFICATION OF SLAIN MAN SOUGHT

St. Paul Victim May Be Gangster Sought in Lindy Kidnap Case.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 28— Fingerprint classifications sent from St. Paul, Minn., failed to establish today whether a man known in St. Paul as Abe Loeb and killed there was in fact Abie Wagner, New York gangster long sought for questioning in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case.

Inspector Joseph J. Donovan, head of the criminal identification bureau of the police department, said the classifications were insufficent to determine identity and he had requested St. Paul police to send a full copy of the slain man's fingerprints.

Mrs. Paul Wagner, Wagner's mother's announced yesterday she had received a telegram from her daughter-in-law in St. Paul that Wagner had been killed there, where he had been living under the name of Loeb. Dispatches from St. Paul today, however, quoted the widow of the slain man as denying he was Wagner.

The mother was convinced, however, that it was her son who was killed and proceeded with funeral plans.

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28— Stars and crescents flashed in a blaze of pageantry today as Hollywood film luminaries joined in celebrating the conclusion of the fifty-eighth annual imperial council session of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The closing program will see the shrine uniformed units and motion picture celebrities massed in an electrical pageant at the civic center stadium. The grand marshal of the fourth and final parade of the three-day convention will be Harold Lloyd, actor and shriner.

Wallace Beery, an advance member of the Hollywood delegation, has been in San Francisco for several days attending the convention, as has another motion picture celebrity, George Bancroft.

Among stars from filmland, in the announced list of pageant participants, are: Tom Mix, Joe Brown, Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, Edward G. Robinson, Buster Keaton, Anita Page, Polly Moran, George Raft, Dorothy Jordan, Boris Karloff, Roscoe Ates, William Desmond, Hedda Hopper, Estelle Taylor, Richard Bennett, Joan Bennett and Wallace Ford. Joseph Schenck, producer, will also be present.

Chautauqua Will Close with Program Tonight

The Filipino Collegians in Musical Act and Anna Campbell in Lecture-Reading Feature Will Provide Entertainment as Season Ends.

The combining of the Marion Concert association with the Marion County Chautauqua association for the purpose of widening the scope of Chautauqua activities, was announced by W. E. Orcutt, president of the former organization at the Chautauqua program last night.

Mr. Orcutt, who made the announcement previous to the opening of the night program, said the merger of the two organizations would bring an additional 200 persons in direct contact with the Chautauqua activities. He also announced as one of the plans for next year's Chautauqua the appearance of local artists on the program, explaining, however, that the appearance of the local artists would not mean the appearance of fewer professional entertainers.

"Marion has many artists who would be fully competent to appear on any Chautauqua program," he said, "and one of the purposes of this merger will be to give to these persons the opportunity to appear on the local programs."

Orcutt Heads Group

The Marion Concert association is made up of the Lecture-Recital club, the Canto club and the Marion Civic orchestra. It was organized in 1930 with Mrs. H. K. Mouser as president. Mr. Orcutt was elected president at the annual meeting last spring.

The following board of directors to serve during the coming year was announced today by John H. Clark, chairman of the nominating committee: Karl W. Schell, Mrs. John Oborn, Rev. J. A. Carriker, Mrs. Paul Knauss, Mrs. L. F. Uncapher, Mrs. Louis Uhl, Mrs. C. E. Turley, C. Z. Zachman, Rev. Carl V. Roop, E. N. Hale, L. E. Cookston, J. H. Smith, Elmer Weimer, W. E. Bartholomew, Knox Dunlap, W. D. Brown, Earl Thomas, W. E. Orcutt, Mrs. Karl Schell, Forest Hill, T. M. Cunningham, Mrs. John Lacey, William Ackerman Jr., Jesse T. Dowler and Lillian Black. Other members of the nominating committee were C. Carl May and Mrs. J. A. Cooper.

The children had their day at the Chautauqua yesterday when programs of magic were given by the S. S. Henry Co. at both the afternoon and evening performances. A program especially for children was given in the afternoon. Children from the Children's home were guests of the Chautauqua association. The children were brought to the Chautauqua and returned to the home in automobiles furnished by members of the Kiwanis club.

The evening program was divided into two parts, the first being devoted entirely to feats of magic while the second half was featured by free-hand drawings with bright colored chalk and lighted designs in colored sand.

See New Tricks

A number of tricks of magic new to Marion audiences were given by Henry who is vice president of the International Brotherhood of Magicians. One number on the program which was declared by Henry to be the "work of spirits and not a trick of magic" was the appearing on a blank piece of canvas, a picture in colors selected by one of the audience. The canvas was placed in a frame behind which was placed a powerful light. The building was darkened and the picture desired by any one in the audience, was selected from a group of cards. "The Madonna and Child" was selected and slowly the picture appeared on the canvas.

Tonight's program will include a lecture-recital by Anna Campbell and a concert by the Filipino Collegians. The program will bring the Chautauqua to a close.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT RULES ON BANK TAX

State Assessments Must Be Paid on Capital Stock; Owe $6,878 Here.

Three national banks owe Marion county a total of $6,878.29 as taxes on capital stock under a ruling of the United States circuit court of appeals, County Auditor Earl E. Thomas said today.

This amount is due under the recent ruling from the Marion National bank, the National City Bank & Trust Co. and the Campbell National bank of LaRue for taxes not paid in 1928 and 1930, the auditor said.

Whether national banks were required to pay this tax was the question raised in a case brought against the Franklin county treasurer by the Huntington National bank of Columbus four years ago. National banks throughout the state withheld payments pending a decision. During the period of controversy, a number of auditors accepted a fraction of the amounts due from the banks as payment in full of the disputed amounts, but no compromise of this nature ever was made in this county, Auditor Thomas said.

Steps to collect the amounts due probably will not be taken until the banks have had an opportunity to carry the case to a higher court, the auditor said.

Grange Conference.

A conference of lecturers of granges in the western half of the county was held Tuesday night when Montgomery grange met at DeCliff. The granges will furnish the program for the county grange picnic Aug. 18 at Lincoln park. Montgomery grange will select its candidates for county delegate and alternate to the state convention in Springfield in December, at a meeting in two weeks. A program of music was given by Culp's orchestra. Refreshments were served by a committee. Visitors were present from Salt Rock, Mt. Olive and Progressive granges.

EUROPEAN VISITORS PRAISE PLANT HERE

Public Officials of Greece Compare Sanitation Here and Abroad.

Chariton L. Fioras, of the ministry of sanitation and Emile Boyazis, of the ministry of health, both of Athens, Greece, who were guests of Mayor W. C. Phillians and Service Director E. O. Uncapher on a tour of the disposal plant yesterday, paid the city the tribute of having one of the most complete disposal plants they had visited in their tour of American cities.

While not the largest, the plant here, they said, was one of the best kept and most efficiently operated they had visited. The two men, who are sanitary engineers, had been fellows of the Rockefeller Foundation at the University of North Carolina, and are gathering data for use in Greece. Yesterday afternoon they were the guests of George Whysall of the Marion Water Co., on a tour of the water plant.

Sanitary conditions in Greece at the present time, the men told city officials, are about the same as they were in this country years ago before the adoption of the modern sewage disposal system. Most of the larger cities, they said, are built on hills near the sea and gravitation carries the raw sewage into the sea. This plan they said is beginning to be regarded as a menace to public health and the government is now planning the installation of disposal plants. The engineers will sail for home next month.

My Beauty Hint

BY DOROTHY JORDAN

WE turn to exercises for body limberness, and to bridge for our mental stimulus, but there is a sport that brings about quickness of body and mind together.

This international sport is fencing. Here one is trained from the tips of one's fingers to one's toes. The wrists must be limber to properly handle the foils, and the steps must be quick to protect oneself from one's opponent.

Along with this body training comes one of the mind, for decisions must be quickly made.

Also, Pepto-Bismol is not a patent medicine. It is a prescription by The Norwich Pharmacal Company, whose linguentine and other fine medicines have held the respect of physicians, surgeons, hospitals, nurses and druggists for nearly 50 years.

If Pepto-Bismol does not get rid of your indigestion, distress after eating, heartburn and sour, acid stomach, in a few minutes, get your money back from your druggist. Delicious Pepto-Bismol is harmless. Price 50c.

But don't be absent-minded and merely ask your druggist for "something for indigestion". Ask him for Pepto-Bismol by name. Look for the name Pepto-Bismol on the bottle. Refuse the unfair offer of "something just as good" which may hinder, instead of help your digestion. Ask for Pepto-Bismol by name and get what you ask for.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

A New Anderson

FLORA was proposing to behave abominably selfish way. Was she herself any less Sondra wondered.

Sondra knew she was not. She knew nothing for Flora's happiness as long as her own life was secure; as long as she had not even cared for Mark's unhappiness. She had not been willing to share his life with him, she had shrunk from the hardships and discomforts.

If she could only see him again, only be reassured for a moment, only be reassured by his love.

She hardly closed her eyes all night and when the maid came in the next morning her first question was—

"Have you seen Mrs. Lomax this morning?"

"Yes, miss—"

"Is she quite well?" Sondra asked.

"Oh yes, miss—I am taking her breakfast up at 9."

Sondra gave a sigh of relief. Last night was a bad dream which the day had dispelled.

When the maid had gone she took up the telephone receiver from beside the bed and called John.

She began to feel so diffident where he was concerned; they had parted the best of friends.

But Anderson's man answered the phone—Mr. Anderson was not yet up, he told Sondra.

He evidently recognized her voice for he asked if she could give a message.

"No—nothing thanks; just ask Mr. Anderson to ring me later."

She tried to feel reassured, but there was a dark little spot of doubt in her mind; supposing John did not phone?

She dressed and went to Flora's room.

Flora was breakfasting in bed; she looked very much as usual and made no reference to their conversation of the night before.

Sondra felt comforted. People said all sorts of silly things late at night, when they were tired and overwrought.

At half past 10 when Anderson had not phoned Sondra went out. She told the maid casually that if Anderson called, to say she would be in during the afternoon.

She went to the park and met Beatrice Taylor.

Beatrice looked fluffy and frilly as usual. "You look worn out," she said bluntly.

Sondra flushed. "My head aches," she said untruthfully. "I thought the air would do it good."

They walked along together, and Beatrice said with a giggle.

"I met Mr. Anderson a moment ago. He's so good looking—I haven't seen him since that day you were lunching with him and I nearly gave the game away, do you remember?"

Sondra nodded; that was a day she would gladly have forgotten.

"I've never asked you before—" Beatrice went on. "But do tell me darling, where were you that night when you were supposed to have been with me?"

Sondra tried to laugh "Wouldn't you like to know!" she said lightly.

"That means that you don't intend to tell me," Beatrice sighed. "All right—I'm not curious, but you know I don't believe Mr. Anderson believed either of us."

"Why shouldn't he? It's no concern of his anyway."

Beatrice gave her a quick glance. "Oh—well!" she said.

There was a little silence.

"It's such a pity he isn't a widower," Beatrice said thoughtfully, after a moment. "But women like Evelyn Anderson never die, do they? I should think she will live to be about a hundred."

"I hope she does," Sondra said calmly.

Beatrice giggled again, "Darling, you're such a shocking liar," she said. "And talking of the devil — here comes Mr. Anderson. I'll disappear. I'm sure you don't want me! or at any rate, I am sure he doesn't." And in spite of Sondra's protestations, she took her departure just as Anderson drew near.

Sondra tried to meet him camily.

"I believe Beatrice is afraid of you," she said with a little laugh. "She ran away as soon as she saw you coming. How are you, John?"

"Very well, and you?"

"Splendid thanks."

He turned and strolled beside her.

He looked very bronzed and fit, but once again Sondra had the strange feeling that there was something different about him—or was it some change in herself that made it hard to feel and speak naturally.

"I rang you up at a shockingly early hour this morning," she said, breaking the silence. "You were still in bed."

"Yes—Janson told me."

She was conscious of sudden queer feeling.

"I asked you to ring me up," she said with an effort to speak lightly.

"I got your message, but I was in a hurry—was it anything important?"

"No, only to say how are you" and that I am sorry I could not meet you yesterday."

"I hardly expected you."

"Oh."

"Cass was there—he told me you had an engagement."

"I should not have had one, had I known you were expected," Sondra said impulsively, and then would have given five years of her life not to have said it.

"I was always a bad hand at writing letters," Anderson said.

She rallied with an effort.

"Well, now we have met again, would you like to lunch with me?" she asked laughingly. "I'm at an entirely loose end for once."

"I should have liked it immensely, but unfortunately I have a luncheon engagement."

"I see." Sondra was conscious of a sudden tightening in her throat. He was lunching with Nathalie Symons of course.

"Some other day then," she said with an effort.

"I shall be delighted."

It was all so terribly formal; one would have thought they were the merest acquaintances.

A month ago Anderson would never have dreamed of making any engagements for the first day of his return, except with her!

A month ago she could have managed this man without the least effort, but today she found herself exerting every nerve to win back to the old footing that had existed between them.

Hardaway Y. Browning Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema.

"Eczema broke out on me in pimples and itched and burned very badly. It was on my face and head and then spread to my limbs. The irritation was awful, and my clothing made it worse. I tried different remedies that stopped it for a while, but it would come back again as bad as ever.

"I had the eczema for about four months before I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in about three months I was completely healed." (Signed) Hardaway Y. Browning, 2127 N. Campbell Ave., Springfield, Mo., Feb. 27, 1932.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky's Smouldering Jealousy of Hugh Grantland at Last Breaks Forth, in the Stormy Scene That Madge Had Been Dreading.

IT had come—the issue that I had subtly dreaded ever since we all had rushed to Sackettsville at the news that Marion and Carolyn had been lured away from Whitney Hall by kidnappers! I had known, I think, from the first moment of Hugh Grantland's arrival upon the scene, that sooner or later Dicky's antipathy to the army officer, born of his old jealousy, would assert itself.

The Old Jealousy Breaks Through

I had been much relieved when the two men had amicably joined in my father's plan of rescue, Dicky to give the location of the spot and warn the girls from an airplane, and Hugh to direct the attack upon the hiding place from the ground; but his sudden tenseness in speaking of my program, his abridged but unmistakable use of the offensive epithet "Faithful Fido," that long ago in one of his jealous rages he had applied to Hugh, and his reference to "masters of strategy and other gifted leaders" counting on my aid, told me that the smoldering resentment that he could keep under control when it was a question of his association with Hugh, was in danger of breaking into flame at the thought of my working with my old friend in the night rescue of the girls that we had planned.

"I don't know what you mean, Dicky," I parried. "I haven't any plans to help anybody, except to be ready for whatever necessity arrives. Isn't that all that anybody can do?"

"Don't stall!" he said with sudden fierceness. "You can't stand it unless you're in the forefront of the battle, with pennons floating from every button hole. Look at that stunt you pulled last night, for which, I suppose, you'll receive the Croix de Guerre from the military! With two able young men at hand, you had to cavort up the mountains on a bicycle, and nearly get yourself killed in the process.

Stay with the Women!

"Now I'm here to remark that this particular form of foolishness is going to stop. I don't care if the whole United States army is drawn up presenting dipped flags to you, for the rest of this affair, you're going to stay put with the rest of the women. This happens to be a man's job, and I'm not going to have you gumming up the works. D'ye hear?"

If I had not sensed that his words were much more brutal than his tones or his thoughts, and known also that jealous love for me mingled with anxiety for my safety was responsible for his outburst, I should have twisted myself from his hold and fled from the room, ignoring his ultimatum. But his raucous tones were unsteady, and the eyes that held mine were strained, miserable, anxious.

Oil on the Waters

Besides, I reminded myself — though I did not need the reminder, for the thought was ever before me—that he was going away on a flight, always most terrifying to me. He might never return. I must say nothing to anger him further, but I had a mighty struggle with myself before I could swallow the insulting words and answer him with the lightness that I have learned is my best weapon against his curlishness.

"I'll admit the bicycle stunt was a bit—flamboyant," I said, seizing upon the lesser issue, in the hope that he might forget the greater, "but there had to be some man left at the hotel and I couldn't let Ronald go alone. But I'll promise to ride no more bicycles."

Dicky's eyes narrowed and his facial muscles tightened, instead of relaxing, as I had hoped.

"You're clever," he said as if he grudged the words, "but it won't do you any good. I have sense enough myself to know that the bicycle stunt is washed up, that you probably won't ride another one until you begin to teach Faith how. That isn't what I'm talking about. It's this mess they're cooking up for tonight.

"Why Should You Go?"

"No matter who plans your presence, there's to be no advancing under fire and under the direction of a strategic genius for you. You're to stay quietly at the hotel. There'll be plenty for you to do there, getting ready to take care of the girls. They probably will be in pretty bad shape by the time we get 'em out."

"Won't they need one of us — some woman—with them?" I asked, and for an instant I thought Dicky was going to strike me, his face was so dark and savage.

"There you go!" he exclaimed. "They have mothers, haven't they? Why should you go?"

I saw a possible exit and traveled toward it.

"If either mother is able to go on that rescue party, I shall gladly stay at the hotel," I said, and waited fearfully for Dicky's reply.

Embittered Public Servant.

Actions of the house of representatives of the 72nd congress added nothing to the prestige of that branch. Enjoying a position of superior dependability in the preceding congress, it fell back once more to a place behind the senate in its claim on public confidence.

John Q. Tilson, Connecticut representative and member of the Republican triumvirate which, under the direction of the late Nicholas Longworth, led the house with extraordinary efficiency, could not be expected to be happy in the presence of such disorder. It is not surprising that he refuses to stand again for election and that he intends to resign.

He was defeated for the responsible post of minority leader in this session of congress by Representative Bertrand H. Snell. He witnesses the distressing spectacle of disorganization in both party groups and probably was saddened no more by Speaker Garner's ineffectual effort to maintain control than by signs of disrupted organization in Republican ranks.

He sat by and watched the reputation for sound legislation which had been established jointly by himself, as majority leader, Mr. Longworth, as speaker, and Mr. Snell, as chairman of the rules committee, destroyed in battles with headstrong legislators motivated by panic and selfishness. Recalling the objections of some of these same men against strong Republican control he must have questioned sadly the rightness of trying to serve the people by permitting legislators to run wild in words and ideas.

"Under present conditions," his statement of impending resignation reads, "I doubt whether the importance of my service here is sufficient to justify me in further sacrificing what may prove to be my last opportunity to provide somewhat more adequately for my family and future." Perhaps no more eloquent comment on the decreased prestige of the house of representatives has been delivered than this one by an embittered member.

Moving Forward.

It is fitting that the greater part of the agitation to interest Ohio in the county home rule amendment should be sponsored by populous counties. They are chiefly concerned. It is their governments which have been most injured by shackles passed down to them from horse-and-buggy days.

Newton D. Baker, first citizen of Cleveland, has told the state he believes that adoption of the amendment in the coming election would be the most important step in the improvement of government since 1912, when the municipal home rule amendment was approved. A resident of Cuyahoga county, he could not help but voice his approval. "No one can defend the present constitutional limitation, which requires Vinton county with its 10,287 population and Cuyahoga county with its 1,201,455 population to have the same governmental organization," is his argument.

Truly, making the start is half the journey when reform of government is the goal. Opposition to the home rule amendment, though expected has failed to appear. Its fairness is so obvious as to need no explanation. People have a right to demand that their local government be adapted to their particular needs and not patterned after a system fashioned in the days of their great-grandfathers. They hesitated on the first step, but the success of their efforts and the enthusiasm that has been aroused for the home rule amendment in the last few months are assurance that public opinion is with them. They are headed in the right direction, and moving forward.

On a Weakness in Planks.

The American Federation of Labor, which rarely is tempted to tempt disappointment by getting its feet off the ground, appeals to reason in its refusal to pay attention to the prohibition plank in either of the major party's platforms. Labor's stand is taken "in view of the refusal of party leaders themselves to adhere to party declarations."

The federation is interested in modification of the Volstead act to permit legal manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer. This the Democratic party has pledged itself to do, but no more than a few days of experience with its platform were needed to demonstrate that a party declaration for modification was by no means binding on members of the party.

Members of the federation are advised, therefore, to take the Democratic prohibition plank, which seems to promise them what they want, with a generous amount of skepticism. In turn, they are advised again by their leaders to consider the Republican plank with skepticism of another kind. It promises little; the Democratic plank promises much. Neither is truly representative of the probable action of Republicans and Democrats when dealing with the question in congress.

Congressmen and candidates for congress, irrespective of party affiliation, have it in their power to translate the public will into legislative action. Presidential attitudes, also, have direct bearing on organized labor's prospects for modification of the Volstead act, because a veto would demand that, instead of a majority, two-thirds of each house of congress be wet to pass the necessary legislation.

This early repudiation of the most talked about planks in the two platforms is superfluous illustration of a notorious weakness in political declarations by parties. Individuals are not bound thereby; unless the planks clearly represent the overwhelming will of the politicians behind them they are meaningless. Americans know that there is no difference between the voting attitudes of Republicans and Democrats on questions pertaining to prohibition. Like members of the American Federation of Labor have been advised to do, they will pay more attention to the records of individual candidates than the declarations of the parties.

Big Man for a Big Job.

Appointment of former Senator Atlee Pomerene as a member of the board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. is one of those rare cases in which all considerations blend perfectly into harmony. President Hoover has selected the highest type of man available. It is known that Mr. Pomerene will be elected chairman of the board.

The Reconstruction Finance Corp., though not designated as such, is the largest banking institution in the world. It holds the power of life and death over a vast portion of those national enterprises which are the foundation of the national economic system. Its clients soon will include most of the states. In administering the relief act it will have the power of making employment for thousands of Americans.

Within six months this unique institution has become the keystone of the nation's economic structure. With potential resources of almost four billion dollars it is the symbol of a wealthy democracy's effort to fight economic adversity by cooperative effort. Its officials are in charge of a tremendous experiment in the untried science of manipulating public wealth for public welfare.

Mr. Pomerene's standing as a valued public servant will be verified by reception of the announcement to the board of this mighty organization. His qualifications will not be questioned. As lawyer, business man and legislator he has proved many times that he possesses them in abundance. Approbation equal to that expressed when President Hoover appointed Benjamin N. Cordozo to the United States supreme court will testify to nation-wide approval of the latest honor that has been given this state's great citizen.

He is a Democrat. The board of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. now has a Democratic majority, which should hush the clacking tongues of those Democratic critics who have been making of it a partisan issue in their attempts to embarrass a Republican president. Mr. Hoover has displayed both courage and good judgment by an appointment which names a man who, personally, is above politics. The public has faith in Atlee Pomerene.

Germany's Fourth Windup.

Americans, excited over their first election of national scope in four years, are living in a state of peace compared with the Germans, preparing this week for their fourth national election in one year.

Hitlerism and the benefits and dangers it implies to the many German viewpoints is again the issue. As before, the prospect for the outcome is more indecision. Hitler's strength will increase, but his control will not be established. More elections are in sight, assuming that the republic's will to live will not succumb to those who would destroy it.

It is a baffling tangle of hopes and fears in which Germany flounders. Each hope and fear is or has been represented by at least one political party within the last two years. Significantly, recurrent elections and inevitable defeats are thinning out this choking growth of political groups rapidly. The struggle is having at least one good effect.

One may read many conflicting descriptions of political conditions in the most closely watched of European nations, which is an infallible sign of the existence of widespread uncertainty. Months ago it was predicted confidently that Hitler's shoddy creed would not stand the test of time; that his heterogeneous National Socialist party was more fad than driving force. Still, time has been a tardy ally for republican moderates; Hitler's importance as a political factor has increased with frightening consistency.

In contrast, the parties of the extreme left—the Socialists and Communists—have weathered the storm badly. Their decline is an indication, for the present at least, that Germany's political affections will continue to be attracted by conservative suitors. How conservative has become a question of international importance with the recent accession to dictatorial power of the established government. Is Hitler, the ambitious commoner, serving as cat's paw for the monarchists? Are Germans as interested in republican government as they are in, say, constitutional monarchy? They will give some more of the answer the world seeks next Sunday, in their fourth election of the year.

A SUMMER THRILLER.

Like a page from an old-time mystery thriller reads the story of the "phantom rifleman" of Hornell, N. Y. The entire affair, from the warning note weighted down by a large caliber cartridge to the bullet hole in the clergyman's hat, sounds suspiciously like a plot concocted in the fertile brain of another Edgar Wallace or an embryonic disciple of Edgar Allen Poe.

The names and words of the principal characters are in keeping, too. The leading actors are the Reverend Herman Lee Henderson and Lieutenant Gerald Vaine of the state police. And just hearken to these words from the person: "I have done no wrong and have no enemies. Right will triumph."

Briefly, the facts are these:

The Reverend Mr. Henderson took possession of a farm near Hornell, as a summer home. He found a note warning him to keep away from "the well." As he read the note a bullet sang through the air and lifted his hat from his head, a rifle cracked faintly in the distance.

Investigation disclosed the fact that several persons had been scared away from the farm by the "phantom rifleman" prior to the advent of Mr. Henderson, who, aided and abetted by Lieutenant Vaine, plans to "stay here until I find out the secret."

If the facts are also the truth, and nothing more serious or fatal happens than a bullet hole in Mr. Henderson's hat, then the mystery is a welcome one, coming as it does during the lull in that other great mystery show—politics. But it should not be solved too soon. The American mind needs something to divert it during the dull "dog days" of August. The "phantom rifleman" can provide that diversion, and at no expense, an important item these days.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

What To Do With a Bunion.

"Hallux valgus" is a medical term used to describe a condition in which the big toe is turned outward. The inner portion of the joint of the toe rubs against the next toe, causing marked irritation, and pain is produced by the pressure.

The joints of the body are surrounded by small sacs containing a liquid called the "synovial fluid," that lubricates the joints. Each sac is called by the doctor a "bursa." Long continued pressure or other irritation of a bursa will lead to inflammation, and this ailment is called "bursitis."

There are many causes of bunion, otherwise known as hallux valgus. Disabilities such as arthritis, gout and rheumatism may bring it about, directly or indirectly, while in many cases it appears to be inherited. It is frequently caused, too, by a blow or injury, such as a kick, or by some heavy object falling on the foot. Tight or improperly fitted shoes also are a common cause of bunion.

In its early stages hallux valgus can be easily corrected. Massage, proper shoes, exercise and foot baths are beneficial, but a cure can be accomplished only if the toe can move easily and is not complicated by other troubles. In advanced cases, operation is necessary if there is to be complete cure. In the complicated type of bunion, the part gradually enlarges and it is impossible to move the toe.

I am frequently asked whether "bunion plasters" have any value. In the treatment of bunion irritation must be removed, and a bunion plaster, which is a thick ring of gauze or cotton placed around the sore spot, gives marked relief by removing the pressure. But although the bunion plaster will help reduce the pain, it will hardly serve to cure the condition. Sometimes relief from discomfort can be obtained by cutting a hole in the shoe.

I can not overemphasize the importance of wearing proper footgear. Bunions, bursitis, corns and other disabling deformities of the feet can be traced to wearing badly-fitted shoes.

A shoe should be of sufficient length, also wide enough to permit ample movement of the toes. The shoe should not be pointed, and its inner border should be firm and support the arch. The heel should be broad and not higher than from one to one and a quarter inches.

It is unwise to wear the same pair of shoes constantly, for increased comfort comes from frequent changes. It is not extravagant to have more than one pair of shoes. Indeed it is economical, because your shoes will wear longer and the health of your feet will be better.

SUGGESTIONS TO CONGRESS

Ridgeway, O., July 22, 1932

To the Editor of The Marion Star.

Dear Sir:—In regard to your editorial today as to Mussolini, may I ask a few questions?

Has Mussolini suppressed the Black Hand in Italy? Has he not established order out of chaos since he assumed the dictatorship? Are not the citizens of Italy better protected by their government, and with lighter burdens of taxation, than we are in our so-called representative government?

"You say: "Some Americans are making a death-threatening charge against democracy and it must be refuted."

It can be refuted in one way at least, and that is for congressmen, senators, to put in the public treasury all they have profited by the depression. Every person who had the nerve to draw the war-time salaries, for nearly twelve years, has had the profit of the increased purchasing power of the dollar, due to the fast declining prices of commodities.

Farm products and land started a rapid decline in November, 1920, and in less than five years thousands upon thousands of farmers and merchants lost all their savings. And at the same time, for ten years the government reduced its war debt one billion per annum, besides paying for the increasing cost of government.

The graft that started in 1916 with the cost plus 10 per cent robbery, has never ceased to obtain in one form or another, in our system of representation. Today it is alleged that thousands of figureheads are drawing $3,000 and upwards while deputies and underlings are tax paid for doing their work.

We have an able and patriotic executive of 48 states and six territories in Mr. Hoover, whose responsibility is at least ten times that of any other salaried job within our domain, and no intelligent citizen who is loyal to his fellow men, would say he gets a cent too much. Yet he is the first of the federal paid men, to my knowledge, to set the example of voluntarily taking a maximum cut in salary.

How shall we defend congress, when it not only failed to cut the cost of government, but by nepotism and the creation of bureaus and commissions, it has greatly increased the cost, till the national expense is far in excess of our national income. Then they commit the monstrous crime of assessing a heavier burden of tax on the already overburdened, suffering people, to balance the budget.

Congress had the foresight to raise their salaries when commodities advanced, can they plead guilty prices in the fall of 1920? The interstate commerce commission, an offspring of congress, granted the railroads the authority to charge exorbitant freight rates, enabling them to pay officers from forty to one hundred and forty thousand dollars a year, though their responsibility and service would probably be one tenth of that of the President of the United States. Furthermore, they have been granted increases in their rates during these twelve years of declining prices of farm products.

Steel is low in price, yet the manufactured products of steel, for the past 12 years has been controlled by trusts and today the average price of these necessities to the American farmer is twice what it was in the first decade of this century. In 1906 the writer purchased a six-foot Deering grain binder for $115. Today it costs $230 or more.

Congress has the power to write the law, declaring these injustices abolished. Yet they have continued to increase.

It was commendable for congress to refrain from appropriating over a billion dollars, especially when there was no way to raise the dough, and I appreciate having this feature brought to notice, since so many are in the habit of thinking in terms of pork-barrel appropriations as paying off some political debt, which is not always the case.

We appreciate the efforts of our Eighth district congressman to pass an amendment to abolish nepotism, which was defeated by 88 to 40 for the reform, but regret so many members were absent or not voting. Voters should remember those absent as well as the 88 who voted to continue this form of graft.

We should look for good in our fellow-men, since there is some good in the worst of us, and some bad in the best of us and we are prone to see the faults and overlook the better part. We have all come short, and if we wait for one "without sin to cast the first stone," there will be no constructive criticism.

It is unfortunate that the minority who labored loyally to achieve relief must share in the odium of congressional inadequacy so evident in the working majority.

Let us hope that ere the next session convenes in December, this majority may see the light, hear the cries, and feel the suffering which inspires the worthy and capable to a new love and devotion to service, that will allay distrust, dispel suspicion, and go a long way to redeem the confidence in representative government, which has been so flagrantly betrayed.

Daily Talk to Parents
BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

APPEALING TO SELF-RESPECT

A 10-year-old girl, who bit her finger nails until they were raw, was spoken to by her mother in this fashion, "See how ugly your hands are. People who look at you will think you are a nice, attractive child until they see your hands. Then they will be surprised and disgusted, I'm afraid. Surley you can give up such a baby trick!"

The only apparent result of this talk was to cause the child to hold her hands behind her back when she spoke to strangers. She refused to stay to dinner at her friends' homes because, she confessed miserably, every one would see her hands.

Undoubtedly this child's mother meant well in her effort to appeal to her self-respect. The difficulty was that she asked of a child a thing which she could not accomplish without aid. Nail biting is usually a symptom of nervous tension.

The appeal to self-respect is in itself an excellent one. But it must be used only when we are sure that conscious effort on the child's part will serve to correct his fault.

Often too, the parent unconsciously uses what he believes is an appeal to the child's self-respect, when in reality it is only a masked form of cruelty and irritation.

Thus he says, "I'm surprised at your report card. I know you can't be as stupid as these marks make you seem." Or again, "What! a boy of your age who can't tie his shoes! What a baby you are!"

ST. CLAIR'S DEFEAT.

General Arthur St. Clair on the occasion of his disastrous defeat by hostile Indians on the line that now separates Darke from Mercer county, Nov. 3, 1791, permitted himself to be surprised, but this might not have happened had not the Indians known many of his men had deserted. The deserters, lacking confidence in St. Clair, feared the fate that actually befell the expedition.

St. Clair believed the deserters were thinking only of loot and that they were headed for a wagon train of supplies some distance to the rear. He detailed an entire regiment to turn back in pursuit of the deserters and bring back the supplies at any cost.

But before daylight next morning the camp was attacked furiously by the entire strength of the hostile Indians, from the front, no doubt perfectly informed as to the strength and position of the Americans. St. Clair escaped, but General Butler, his chief subordinate, and 600 of his officers were

New York, July 28—Pirie MacDonald, whose outside display cabinet on the avenue suggests illustrations from "Who's Who," is a pronounced radical among the photographers. For the inartistic, he coined the term "lens-louse," which grew to have many interpretations.

In his pavement array, the passerby may note that MacDonald has photographed such notables as Otis Skinner, the King of Denmark, Alfred Lunt, James Montgomery Flagg, Bob Davis—a photographer of eminence himself, Rudyard Kipling and the like. MacDonald is contentious at times.

Upon two occasions he is reported to have shooed startled sitters out of his gallery because their expressions "looked like buzzards hatching something." But generally he is unctuous, flattering customers and having a conniption of ecstasy when they finally hit the right pose.

His sittings are $100—or were, some time ago. And you pay extra for the prints. He makes but few appointments daily and will photograph only men. A society dowager is reputed to have offered him $2,000 for a single portrait, but he refused to break his rule.

Glimpses of the Past

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Friday, July 28, 1922.

A news report from Washington said that the nationwide railway strike was well on the way to settlement and that President Harding was able to inform his cabinet that for the first time in weeks the industrial skies were brightening.

The giant Army dirigible C-2 landed at Aberdeen proving grounds, Maryland, after a 13-hour battle during the night in an electrical storm over New York City and after having been lost two hours in a dense fog over the north Atlantic coast.

Mrs. H. F. Davis, 42, died at her home four miles west of Marion after a two weeks' illness.

C. F. Bowman, formerly traveling freight agent of the Erie railroad with headquarters in Marion, became general agent for a new Erie commercial office established in Columbus.

A 15-year-old Marion boy was seriously ill at his home from poisoning reported to have resulted from drinking an alcoholic fluid from a bottle which he said had been handed him in Garfield park by a "tall, well-dressed stranger."

The second annual reunion of the Hochstetter and Wieland families was held at Garfield park. Following a program, officers were elected, headed by W. F. Wieland as president.

Mrs. George Fies entertained at bridge at her home on Blaine avenue in honor of her guest, Mrs. O. Swoford of Madison, Wis.

A shower was given for Mrs. Waide Smith by members of the P. D. Q. club at the home of Miss Elizabeth King on West Columbia street. Mrs. Smith, formerly Miss Zona Griffin, was a recent bride.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, July 28 1912.

Delmas Jenkins entertained a company of his little friends at his home on the occasion of his fifth birthday anniversary.

Mayor Walters acted as adjudicator in a dispute over a "skin game." A Marion man filed complaint against another local citizen saying that he had hired the latter to skin a horse and bury it, paying him $1 for the service. The man hired said that the horse was so old that it couldn't be skinned and that he had buried it. The other man then paid him $2. Later it was found that the man hired had employed a friend to skin the horse for $1 and then kept the skin. The matter was compromised by the defendant returning $1 to the plaintiff.

Hogan's Runts baseball team of Marion nine in the Northern Ohio league, was defeated by Galion in a game at Galion, 7-2 and as a result, Galion went into a tie with Shelby for first place in the league. Cochran and Frantz were the battery for Marion and Girton and Sharrock for Galion.

The Marion baseball team of the Southern Trolley league lost both games of a doubleheader to Worthington on the local grounds 13-0 and 3-0. Staub and Young pitched for Marion in the first game and Shrock in the second game.

Solomon H. Rupp, 78, former Marion county recorder, died at the home of a sister, Mrs. John Curren in Henry county.

According to information obtained by Burns' detectives and turned over to New York district attorney, the five gunmen who killed Herman Rosenthal, New York gambler, went directly to an automobile nearby and drove to Far Rockaway, where at a gambling resort they squandered $5,000 they had received for committing the murder.

PRESBIE NINE CHALKS UP 3-1 VICTORY IN STRUGGLE WITH IRISH

Standings in No. 1 League in Triple Deadlock Result of Game.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

Just as though the No. 1 Sunday school league battle hasn't been having enough trouble deciding who is going to inherit the mantle of champion this season, the First Presbyterians came along yesterday, knocked the St. Mary Irish galley west and tossed three teams into a deadlock for first place. The Presbyterians, Lee Street and St. Mary are the three teams deadlocked for the top. Lee Street slid into the three-way tie although idle yesterday as a result of the Presbie victory.

Yesterday's encounter was played as a benefit game for the Y. M. C. A. playground work. About $60 was taken in on the game and the entire amount goes to the playground project.

Gene Gunder and Don Shoemaker, two crack right handers, opposed each other on the mound in the Presbie-Irish battle and there wasn't much to choose between the two. Shoemaker gets the victory and Gunder the loss but that doesn't change the fact both men turned in well-pitched games. Irish errors did more to decide the issue than anything else.

Gunder allowed four hits, Shoemaker two. The Irish committed two misplays but both of them proved decidedly costly, two men who got on base because of the miscues both crossed the plate.

Despite the fact there were three errors during the game both combines turned in some sparkling play afield, Leo Oberlander, who roamed center field for the Presbies covered enough territory for two men and pulled down several balls that were tagged as extra base hits. Cliff (Shanty) Hogan turned in a classy game at short for the Irish.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 28—Roger Hoogerhyde of Pinehurst, N. The defending champion scored 696 yesterday in the concluding day of the national tournament.

STEPS MILE IN 2:08 TO BEAT OLD MARK

Fast Times Recorded in All of Three Races on Short Ship Program.

Pounding her way around the oval in 2:08 flat, Wilma, a chestnut mare from the J. W. Miller stables at Newark, O., last night shattered the year-old record for night racing on the Fairground circuit. Wilma did her record breaking stunt in the first heat of the 2:14 pace, the second event on last night's three-race program. The old record was 2:08¼, set last year.

However, though she shattered the track record in the opening heat, Wilma could not come close to duplicating her feat and finished second in the second heat and was drawn in the third. The race went to Bertha's Signal, piloted by Walton. Bertha's Signal grabbed the third heat and then outraced Calvin May in the fourth and deciding chapter of the race.

Guy Eagle Wins

In the first event on last night's card Guy Eagle proved himself the class of the field, walking off with three straight firsts while several other entries battled for second money. Guy Eagle stepped out ahead of the field by taking the three heats in 2:11¼, 2:12 and 2:12. Carolina Hal threatened in the second heat to nose out the winner but a spurt in the stretch kept Guy Eagle ahead of the field.

Harold Guy captured three straight heats in the final event of the program, the 2:24 trot. Doc McMillen drove Harld Guy to victory in this race, chalking up his second winner in two nights.

McMillen piloted his charge around the mile stretch in 2:13, 2:13 and 2:14¼ in the three heats, outrunning all would-be contenders by a safe margin. Harry Brooke, with Edman in the driver's seat, put up a great race against Harold Guy in the first heat until he stumbled on the stretch and took a bad fall. Edman was catapaulted to the track in the spill but neither the horse nor the driver was injured. It was the first spill at the track this meeting.

1,200 See Race

Approximately 1,200 fans were in the stands to see the second night's events. It is expected that tonight's program will draw an even larger crowd. The track was in good shape for the races.

Thirty-Four Nations Line Up Contestants for International Crown.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, July 28—With the draw for preliminary heats before them, thirty-four nations lined up their track and field forces for the first skirmishes of the tenth Olympiad Sunday.

Uncle Sam's speedsters fared exceptionally well in the first races of the 100 and 200 meters. Ralph Metcalfe was spotted in the fifth heat of the 100 meter where apparently Birchall Pearson of Canada is his chief opponent.

America's three dash men were seeded in both the short races, with Eddie Tolan drawing Frederick Reid, Great Britain and Andre Theard, Haiti, among his opponents in the 100 meters.

George Simpson has in his 100-meter heat, Andrej Engl, Czechoslovakia, and Ernest Page, Great Britain.

In the 200 meters Metcalfe has virtually no known opposition, with the list including Harold Wright of Canada, and China's one-man team, Cheng-Chun Liu.

It was a different story for the United States in the other events. Bill Carr, seeded in the fourth heat of the 400 meters drew such rugged customers as George Golding of Australia and Crew Stoneley of Great Britain, with the first three to qualify.

Ben Eastman's competition at this distance appeared to lie in Joubert, Joachim Buechner of Germany, and Jhalmar Johannesen of Norway.

America's 800 meter men drew a nest of trouble. Eddie Genung faced Paul Keller of France and Dr. Paul Martin of Switzerland, in the first heat with three qualifying. Charles Hornbostel had Dr. Ott Peltzer of Germany, world half mile record holder, and Alex Wilson of Canada, to contend with. Ed Turner had Sera Martin, of France, John Lovelook of New Zealand, and Hampson in his race.

The best four qualify in the three 1500-meter heats.

With more than four hundred athletes entered, the track and field events promise to be on a par with previous Olympiads. Some three hundred are participating in the track events and more than a hundred others will engage in the field sports.

America's team of 68 tops the list, while Brazil runs second with 43, and Germany, Japan and Mexico third with 27 each.

DAVIS CUP PLAY TO START FRIDAY

By The Associated Press

PARIS, July 28—All the long months of preparation reach their climax tomorrow when tennis stars of the United States and France meet in the opening singles matches of the 1932 Davis cup challenge round.

Not before then will it be known whether the four French aces, Henri Cochet, Jean Borotra, Jacques Brungnon and Christian Boussus will be able to meet the challenge of the youthful Americans and keepp the trophy or whether the rather shaky showing the United States team made in the interzone final against Germany will carry over into the challenge round.

KANSAS CITY LOSES AS MILLERS RALLY

Columbus Winning Streak Stopped by Indianapolis; Toledo Wins.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 28—One big inning has shattered Minneapolis' current losing streak, a slump that threatened to topple the Millers from first place in the American Association pennant struggle.

Going into the sixth inning yesterday, the Millers were trailing Kansas City by one run, but a rally in that frame saved them by a one run margin, 7 to 6.

St. Paul, accustomed to losing one run decisions all season, staggered in with a doubleheader victory over Milwaukee yesterday, 6 to 4 and 6 to 5.

Howard Craghead pitched Toledo to a 5 to 2 conquest over Louisville. He allowed but seven hits.

Columbus' winning streak ended at six with a defeat by Indianapolis, 6 to 4, in a night game. It was a 1-1 deadlock until the seventh, however.

U. S. OLYMPIC HOPE

Uncle Sam has an almost sure point scorer at the Olympics in Joe McCluskey (above) of Fordham university who will compete in the 3,000 meter steeplechase. Joe bettered the Olympic record in the trials by covering the distance in 9:14.5.

DETROIT FLAG HOPES ALMOST BLASTED BY LONG LOSING STREAK

A's Sock Tigers Twice; Indians Rack Up Pair Over New York.

By The Associated Press

Consider the plight of the Detroit Tigers. After July 4, the traditional turning point of the season, the Tigers were in second place, with a very slim margin over a couple of rivals but still to all appearances the best team in the western section of the league. Today they are fifth, and Cleveland's Indians have usurped their place as the outstanding western club.

Since July Fourth Detroit lost 19 out of 22 games in a disastrous road tour and yesterday they took it on the chin twice as they opened their home stand against the Athletics. The A's copped a 13 to 8 victory in the opener, then came back to take the second, 4 to 0.

Cleveland held its virtual tie with the Athletics and reduced the New York Yankees margin to seven games by taking a double bill from the league leaders, 2 to 1 and 12 to 10.

Smead Jolley of Boston with a homer, two doubles, a single and a walk led the Red Sox to a 13 to 5 victory over Chicago. Washington squared the series with the St. Louis Browns, winning the second game 9-3.

In the National, the Pirates stole the show by winning two last minute decisions from the New York Giants, 9 to 8 and 4 to 2.

Indians Call on Ferrell for Third in Row Today

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 28—A savage band of Cleveland Indians with a special ambition to scalp the Yankees, today resumed the war path toward the American league championship.

Fired with fresh spirit by yesterday's double-header victory over the McCarthymen, the Tribe called upon their ace hurler, Wesley Ferrell, to add another win today.

Yesterday's double-header gave the Cleveland team their twentieth and twenty-first victories out of the last 28 games, and the town today was more baseball-crazy than ever.

More than 60,000—an all-time Cleveland record—are expected to turn out Sunday for the team's first game in the $2,500,000 municipal stadium.

The Indians' opponents in this notable contest will be the champion Philadelphia Athletics.

Several railroad lines will bring in thousands of fans on special excursions while other thousands are planning to come by buses and automobiles.

Governor George White will pitch the first ball in the opener. Mayor Ray T. Miller will be behind the bat, and Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis will umpire for the Governor's pitch.

* * *

A large delegation of Marion fans is expected to attend the Sunday game. Two special Big Four trains will leave Marion Sunday morning for the game. They will return Sunday night following the game.

Intermediate Scores.

Fite Memorial Baptist Sunday school softball team scored a 19-5 victory yesterday over Calvary. Other scores were Lee Street 12, Presbyterian 9 and Northern Stars 6, Pleasant 2. Epworth and St. Mary postponed their game. It will be played today at 6 p. m. at Central Junior high along with the following games: Christian vs. Reformed at Shovel field; Trinity vs. Forest Lawn at Silk Mill and Wesley vs. St. Mary No. 2 at Central No. 2.

STOCK SHARES SURGE HIGHER

Bullish Enthusiasm Shows No Letdown as Prices Mount.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 28—The re-born bullish enthusiasm in the se-curities markets showed no sign of flagging today, as stock prices moved forward again, spurred on by pronounced strength of the dol-lar as against foreign currencies, as well as against foreign currencies, as well as against gains in wheat and cotton.

Virtually all groups of shares forged ahead, after a few waves of profit taking had been ab-sorbed in the morning. Gains by the afternoon ranged from 1 to 5 points in many of the leaders, which were squeezed in such is-sues as American Telephone and Gas and Pacific. Brokers reported buying from London, Paris and other cities in the interior. Trad-ing was the most active since Feb-ruary in the first two hours.

A number of shares sagged frac-tions to a point in the early profit taking but these declines were quickly erased. Advances of 3 to 5 points appeared in such issues as Allied Chemical, American Tele-phone and Chemical, American Tele-graph and Cable, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Norfolk & Western and Delaware & Hudson. Issues up 2 or more included U. S. Steel preferred, Coca Cola, Du Pont, Consolidated Gas and Southern Pacific, about 1. U. S. Steel common, Standard of N. J., Pennsylvania, New York Cen-tral, General Electric, and General Motors. Oils were somewhat tardy in joining the move.

Chart readers pointed out that the rebound would shortly reach a resisting area, as it approached the halfway point between the peak of the preceding rally, recorded early in March, and bear market low touched on June 1. Each suc-ceeding phase of the major bear movement has been followed by a temporary recovery of roughly half of the ground lost. The March-June decline was the seventh downswing since Autumn of 1929, and the usual rebound was some-what slow in getting started. If the market is able to carry on be-yond the limits of a normal techni-cal rebound, market theorists will be greatly encouraged. Much may depend, they contend, on the Autumn recovery in business, first, scattered signs of which are now appearing, and the avoidance of any unexpected shock to confi-dence.

The fresh strength of the dollar was generally attributed in bank-ing quarters to sales of sterling and French francs to buy dollars to pay for American securities. London has recently shown a pro-nounced increase in speculative in-terest in the American market. Continental gold currencies have reached levels suggesting a sub-stantial return flow of gold to this country. Bankers were inclined to the opinion that current gold stocks were adequate, and such a large movement of metal to this country would disturb Europe was un-desirable. Nevertheless, some said that with our currency circulation at such an abnormally high level, more gold might help the federal reserve in its credit expansion pro-gram.

GRAINS SCORE NEW ADVANCE

Chicago Ignores Liverpool Market In Staging Early Upward Move.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 28 — Despite laggard action of Liverpool wheat quotations, grain prices here scored fresh upturns early today, influenced by dry weather north-west. Trade estimates indicated that the northern hemisphere wheat supply was less than the to-tal a year ago, and stocks of ex-porting countries 109,696,000 bush-els under. Opening unchanged to ¼ up, Chicago wheat later rose all around, but then reacted some-what. Corn started at ¼ decline to ⅜ advance and subsequently sagged.

Quick rallies from transient set-backs in wheat prices soon car-ried the market a cent or more above yesterday's finish. Tempor-ary downturns, attributed to a sharp break in British exchange rates, failed to have lasting effect. Good export business in North American wheat last night and to-day was noted, and speculative buying here was of fairly broad volume, including further pur-chases for eastern account.

Summaries of domestic spring wheat crop conditions said that un-til threshing returns were obtained it was impossible to estimate ac-curately damage from hot, dry weather. Statements were added, however, that damage had been extensive where small grains were immature. Canadian advices said temperatures were very high for the week, rain badly needed and crops had suffered. Corn and oats tended to decline owing to fore-casts of showers over much of the corn belt.

Provisions were easy, responsive to downturns of hog values.

TRED AVON TAKES ARLINGTON FEATURE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 28 — Take it from a flock of Arlington park railbirds, that old gray mare, Tred Avon, "ain't what she used to be."

She's even better.

Sporting the silks of Sylvester W. Labrot of Annapolis and lug-ging top weight of 122 pounds, she conquered seven of the speediest fillies of America at Arlington park yesterday to win the $10,975 Matron handicap by a length and a half. Although in trouble during the back stretch run, she reeled the mile distance in 1:37 2-5 and could have done better.

FLASHES OF LIFE

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, La.—The gasoline stations have hung out the "welcome" sign to the old grey mare and her brothers and sisters. Horse drivers are invited to drive in and let their thirsty animals fill up. It is a gesture of hospitality. Besides, horses don't live forever, and their owners may be buying automobiles some day.

• • •

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Sir Harold Bowden, chairman of the English Olympics committee, has a good word to say for Hollywood movies. They are so popular with Britishers, he said, that they have "substantially reduced the con-sumption of liquor."

• • •

BONNER SPRINGS, Kas.—Jason Penrod is a regular guy. He figured his 900-bushel potato crop wouldn't bring enough money to pay for harvesting it, so he ploughed out the crop and invited the needy to "come and get them." They came—the needy—in (well! well!) motorcars.

CONFERENCE TO GET U. S. VIEW

American Interests Prepare To Make Statement to British Economic Group.

By The Associated Press

OTTAWA, Ont., July 28—Amer-ican interests, eyeing the British imperial economic conference closely in an effort to protect their trade advantages in Canada, began today the drafting of an unofficial statement of views.

The Americans, outsiders at the conference but keenly interested, planned to indicate the disadvan-tages that might result to Cana-dian-American trade if certain proposals before the conference were agreed to.

At the same time Great Britain sought diplomatically to force Cana-da's hand, and to learn what favors British industry may expect in return for preference tariffs favoring Canada.

The interest of the United States, Argentina and other non-empire nations centers around Canada's stand. These outside nations are especially concerned as to what Canada will offer Great Britain in connection with the "list of 8,000" industrial articles proposed by Premier Bennett of Canada as a bargaining basis.

The first plenary session of the committee on customs administra-tion attracted special notice today from the United States. This was because under the Canadian tariff act of 1930 the powers given to the minister of national revenue in-clude virtually arbitrary control over imports.

There was the possibility that the committee on customs adminis-tration might discuss duties out-side as well as within the empire. If so, United States exporters would get some definite notion of what to look for in Canadian trade.

Suit for Divorce

A divorce from Charles Sharp on grounds of gross neglect and ex-treme cruelty is sought in a peti-tion filed in common pleas court yesterday by Mrs. Garnet Sharp.

Beginning six weeks after their marriage on June 26, 1929, he has been guilty of neglect and cruelty, she charges. He has failed, she asserts, to furnish her with the necessities of life and has refused to work or earn anything, or to furnish her with necessary medical aid. He has abused and threatened her, and finally deserted her in 1929, she states. Homer Johnson is counsel for Mrs. Sharp.

Appeal Bond Filed

An appeal bond of $2,000 has been filed in probate court in the action of Mrs. Kathryn Bassler against Harry R. Bassler and Mrs. Catherine R. Bassler, an ac-tion charging the defendants with concealing and embezzling assets of the estate of the late George Bassler.

The filing of bond is the first step in plans to carry the case to the common pleas court, attorneys said. Mrs. Bassler and Harry Bassler were found by a jury in probate court to have concealed $8,342 of George Bassler's estate, and were assessed a penalty of $834.20.

Sale Confirmed

Sale has been confirmed and deed and distribution have been ordered in common pleas court in the fore-closure action of C. D. Schaffner, receiver for the Citizens' Building & Loan Co., against Floyd C. Hen-son and others.

How to End Painful Piles Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have itching, bleeding or protruding piles have not yet learned that quick and last-ing relief can only be accom-plished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories re-move the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts al-most dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study, found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with success in over 600 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stub-born their case, might try his pre-scription with a money back guar-antee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an opera-tion when Hanney & Cooper and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID and guarantee money refunded if it does not end your Pile misery.—Adv.
